President Biden addresses the debate at a fundraiser in Virginia, according to the pool:

POTUS admitted that he did not have a good debate, said he "wasn't very smart" for "traveling around the world a couple times" before the debate.
"I decided to travel around the world a couple of times ... shortly before the debate ... I didn't listen to my staff ... and then I almost fell asleep on stage."
"It's not an excuse but an explanation."

"Mr. Trump, 78, has also shown signs of slipping over the years since he was first elected to the White House. He often confuses names and details and makes statements that are incoherent. His campaign has released only a three-paragraph health summary." nyti.ms/3xLg4...

I'm still trying to wrap my head around this.

See if I got this right: if a president pays off a sex worker to keep quiet about an adulterous affair he had BEFORE he was president, or if he were to incite violent insurrection, or even threaten state officials to change the results of an election, those are official presidential acts and he should have absolute immunity.

BUT, if that same president were to, say, forgive student loan debt, he should be impeached.

I have that correct?

So, one candidate for leader of the country is an anti-vaccine conspiracy nut who eats bbq'd dog, has a parasitic worm in his brain, and bragged about sexually assaulted his babysitter with the comment "I ain't no church boy."

The President needs to immediately raise taxes on billionaires and billion dollar corporations to 1950 levels.

He doesn't need to ask congressional approval. The court cannot stop him. The consent of the people is not required and if they don't like it they can vote against him, but he doesn't have to leave office if he doesn't want to. He is immune.

Raise the taxes, Mr. President, and tax the damn churches while you're at it. Wipe out the national debt in one stroke. Use the power for good Yesterday told me several things.

1. The speed with which Trump's team sent the request to Merchan means the decision had been leaked to them.
2. They're not concerned about the possibility of Biden taking advantage of this invented immunity. First, because Biden is an honorable and ethical man (or, as they would say, "weak"). Second, because SCOTUS will be the final arbiter, any action by Biden will be found to be "unofficial."
3. Because all this is being done openly and brazenly, they've already gamed out how they will reinstall Trump as president, regardless of the will of the voters.

Overnight, SCOTUS turns us into a banana republic. SCOTUS, legislating from the bench, grabbing power for themselves, creating the Imperial Court and Imperial Presidency. Corruption in the pay of their wealthy benefactors. Now that he is immune, maybe Biden needs to take a look at Traitor Trump's playbook. Biden's much too principled for that, but if Traitor Trump assumes office, this may very well be our last election.

SCOTUS needs restructuring to provide staggered, limited terms, with each President getting two appointments each. No more ideological courts.

This 4th of July, the fight for freedom is here again — we are in the middle of a slow moving coup.

But there's a way to stop it:

I think we're near the end of the slow moving coup. It's been incremental over many decades. We got got.

tess_mcada

We do if enough people surrender by saying things like "we got got" - no we didn't get got. They're still trying. Why else are they going so far off the damn rails? Bc they're fucking desperate. Fight back. Write and call your reps. Volunteer. Donate. Talk to people. Put up a sign. Remember the confessional and state and local races. Don't lie down for these dbags. Never surrender in advance.

Trump tries to distance himself from Project 2025

By Spectrum News Staff Washington, D.C.

UPDATED 4:35 PM ET Jul. 05, 2024 PUBLISHED 1:18 PM ET Jul. 05, 2024

In a post on his social media platform on Friday, former President Donald Trump attempted to distance himself from Project 2025, a laundry list of right-wing policy proposals assembled by conservative think tank the Heritage Foundation in the event of a Republican win in the 2024 presidential election.

The post comes just days after Kevin Roberts, the president of the Heritage Foundation, said on Trump ally Steve Bannon's podcast that the United States is "in the process of the second American Revolution, which will remain bloodless if the left allows it to be."

The elite in the day laughed at this loud little man and didn't take him seriously for far too long. It took years but propaganda, goon squads and taking over the judiciary, finally got him and his henchmen to their goal. It also took good people standing aside doing nothing. Maybe they were scared or complacent. The catholic church was complicit. To me the parallels are eerie and scary AF.

=====ny post vs Kamala

Harris is already being hailed as the president-in-waiting as her boss Sleepy Joe — despite his defiant TV vow to George Stephanopoulos Friday night to stay in the race — increasingly faces reality that his chances of besting Trump are slim.

Calls that he should step down are mounting, paving the way for his VP to land at the top of the ticket.

Even if does stay and achieves the near impossible by pulling out a victory, you can bet he won't survive four years.

Harris becomes the nation's first DEI president by default.

For the American people it would be such an unfair and odd coronation.

Remember, she's part of an administration that gave us inflation, world chaos and an open border that literally invites terrorists to enter the country and kill people.

She has spent nearly four years as Biden's No. 2 flubbing every assignment given to her, including the border mess.

That's on top of her manifest unlikability; her word salad whenever she tries to sound smart; her cackle when she laughs; her vaulting ambition.

DeSantis vetoes water contamination reporting bill

By Angie Angers Tampa

UPDATED 7:52 AM ET Jul. 08, 2024 PUBLISHED 7:10 AM ET Jul. 08, 2024

TAMPA, Fla. — A bill that would have created a streamlined system for reporting contaminated waterways and swimming spots was vetoed by Gov. Ron DeSantis.

What You Need To Know

Gov. Ron DeSantis vetoed the Safe Waterways Act stating local jurisdictions should have authority over closures not DOH

HB 165 had bipartisan support

Environmentalists want streamlined water quality reporting system, more funding for testing

House Bill 165, also known as the Safe Waterways Act, was one of roughly a dozen bills that DeSantis ultimately axed following the 2024 legislative session.

The purpose of the bill was to create a statewide process managed by the Department of Health to issue closures and send warnings if bacteria levels in waterways reached unsafe amounts. It would also require that warning signs be placed and closures be instated within 24 hours of the issue being known.

In a letter explaining his reasoning for the veto, DeSantis stated the bill suffered a "fatal infirmity".

"Health Departments like DOH can serve a valuable function, but they should not be vested with the power to supersede local jurisdictions regarding the operation of beaches. I have made water quality and protecting Florida's natural resources a priority, and my administration will continue to do so, but this grant of power to DOH over Florida beaches is ill-advised," he wrote.

Biden isn't a perfect leader.

But the British and French people recognized that a flawed leader who actually respects the humanity of everyone is WAY BETTER than a coalition of far-right cronies who build their political brand on the demonization of marginalized people. Americans need to do the same in November.

I did my master's in social policy, which included the study of family policy, which meant learning about domestic abuse in families as a social problem.

When I hear Heritage Foundation President Kevin Roberts say things like "The second American Revolution... will remain bloodless if the Left allows it to be," it sounds exactly like an abusive husband saying to their spouse, "I won't hit you anymore if you don't do anything else to deserve it/don't upset me."

Second American Revolution

Observation: I've seen several news outlets and political analysts portray British Labour's landslide victory as "hollow" or "shallow" because of low turnout and the large gap between the number of seats Labour won vs their vote share.

What is particularly frustrating about this framing to me is that it portrays Labour, and not the features of the UK electoral system, as the source of this problem.

Labour campaigned to win under the system that existed! They have a resounding mandate to govern! I loathe these "Labour technically won - but did they really win?" takes.

Those frustrated with the way Labour had to win need to focus their ire on problematic aspects of Britain's first past the post electoral system and the way seats in parliament are apportioned, rather than pre-maturely trying to undermine Labour's mandate to govern.

Yesterday, Heritage Foundation President Kevin Roberts referred to Project 2025 as a Second American Revolution.

Someone else who talked about the need for a "Second Revolution"?

Ernst Röhm, one of Adolf Hitler's lieutenants in the early 1930s. Röhm used the SA, the Nazi Party's original paramilitary wing which he co-founded, to brutalize, incarcerate, & slaughter the Nazis' political opponents.

Make no mistake: Trump & his allies are looking to the Nazi regime as a playbook for Project 2025

Project 2025 is a radical blueprint for a potential second Trump administration, spearheaded by the right-wing Heritage Foundation

Trump says he has "no idea who is behind" Project 2025 and has "nothing to do with them"

THAT IS A LIE

HERE ARE THE FACTS

Of the 38 people responsible for writing and editing Project 2025, 31 were appointed or nominated to positions in the Trump administration and transition.

realjuddlegum

2. Among other things, Project 2025 calls for withdrawing approval for the abortion pill, banning pornography, slashing corporate taxes, abolishing the Department of Education, replacing thousands of experienced federal workers with political appointees, imposing a "biblically based... definition of marriage and families," and placing the Justice Department and other independent agencies under the direct control of the president.

realjuddlegum

3h3 hours ago

3. Russ Vought, who wrote the Project 2025 chapter on the Executive Office of the President was a member of Trump's cabinet. (OMB Director)

Vought is also writing Project 2025's "playbook" for the first 100 days, which will not be released publicly.

Trump appeared at a Mar-a-Lago fundraiser for Vought's non-profit group & declared that Vought would "do a great job in continuing our quest to make America great again"

Vought is also a top candidate for White House Chief of Staff if Trump wins

realjuddlegum

3h3 hours ago

4. Gene Hamilton, a top aide to Trump Attorney General Jeff Sessions, wrote the Project 2025 chapter on the Department of Justice. During the Trump administration, Hamilton drafted Trump's infamous child separation policy.

3h3 hours ago

5. The Project 2025 chapter on the Agency for International Development was written by Max Primorac, the acting Chief Operating Officer for the same agency under the Trump administration. During a 2019 State Department conference on religious freedom, Primorac generated controversy by promoting Trump's reelection. After Trump lost to Biden in November 2020, Primorac told agency staff not to cooperate with the transition.

realjuddlegum

3h3 hours ago

6. Karoline Leavitt, the national press secretary for the 2024 Trump campaign and an assistant press secretary during the Trump administration, is one of the instructors in Project 2025's "Presidential Administration Academy"

Another person involved in Project 2025's academy is top Trump advisor Stephen Miller. Despite his role in the academy, Miller claims he has "never been involved with Project 2025"

Miller's organization, America First Legal, is a member of the Project 2025 advisory board

realjuddlegum

3h3 hours ago

7. Trump's claim that he has "nothing to do" with the people behind Project 2025 is clearly false. But is it possible that Trump will simply ignore Project 2025's recommendations? History tells us that is unlikely.

realjuddlegum

3h3 hours ago

8. Prior to the 2016 election, the Heritage Foundation created a similar project called "Mandate for Leadership." The "Mandate for Leadership" contained "334 unique policy recommendations."

One year into Trump's term, the Heritage Foundation announced that "64 percent of the policy prescriptions were included in Trump's budget, implemented through regulatory guidance, or under consideration for action in accordance with The Heritage Foundation's original proposals."

realjuddlegum

I'd like to introduce the folks calling for Biden's ouster to the concept of tactical voting (affectionately referred to as the Taccy V in the UK), a strategy that just successfully ousted the far right from power in both the UK and France.

Essentially it means voting strategically in coalition to make sure fascists don't take power, instead of insisting upon perfection in your party or candidate, with the understanding that the first objective to a better future is defeating fascism.

Tactical voting in America REQUIRES backing Biden. It's the only way we can be assured that the fascists don't win.

Time to wake up and grow up. Adults compromise. Tactical voting is the only way to keep Trump out of power. From there, a more radical future is possible.

Funny thing, Trump himself hires hundreds of foreign nationals to work at his various properties. For example: Trump's Mar-a-Lago hired 380 short term foreign workers on H-2B visas between 2017 and 2022, as servers, cooks, and housekeepers.

Because when it comes to Trump's properties, there are no "black jobs" for

Americans

stonekettle

18h18 hours ago

Note: "black jobs" is in quote marks, i.e. used ironically as Trump himself intends the term. That's why there are the quote marks, that's Trump's usage, not mine.

Trump claims not to know who is behind Project 2025. A CNN review found at least 140 people who worked for him are involved

Let's give proper credit to Judd Legum & his vital newsletter Popular Information.

Popular Information reaches 330,000 people directly via email. But our impact on the national conversation is significantly larger. On Monday, for example, we published a piece revealing that 81% of the authors of Project 2025, the radical blueprint for a second Trump presidency, worked in his first administration. This reporting authoritatively debunked Trump's claim that he knows "nothing about Project 2025," has "no idea who is behind it," and has "nothing to do with them."

Here is what happened next:

1. Popular Information's story reached millions of people across social media platforms, including Facebook, Instagram, Threads, and X.
2. The story was syndicated by McClatchy, where it appeared — online and in print — in numerous regional publications, including The Miami Herald, The Charlotte Observer, The Sacramento Bee, The Kansas City Star, and The Lexington Herald-Leader.
3. Popular Information's reporting about Project 2025 was cited by several national and international outlets, including Vanity Fair and The Guardian.
4. Last night, I appeared on MSNBC to discuss our Project 2025 story.

One very odd thing, based on who I thought Joe Biden was during the 2020 primaries, is that his current support is much more from Progressives, Women and BIPOC folks, and his current detractors are much more centrist, white and male.

No idea what will happen, and the only thing I care about right now is beating Project 2025, but it's fascinating to watch the flip.

I get this response every time I suggest we tax the churches.

And it's bullshit. Plenty of small rural businesses, aren't there? Small churches that only take in enough to pay their pastor and maintain their building would pay virtually nothing. Hell, I'd give them a deduction if they feed the hungry and clothe the poor.

But you're right in that it would have NO effect on mega churches. Just like mega business, they can afford to pay taxes and wouldn't even notice a dent in their bottom line.

Former President Donald Trump was injured in an assassination attempt Saturday when a gunman opened fire at him at a rally about 30 miles north of Pittsburgh. <https://www.npr.org/live-updates/trump-shooting>

The former president shared an update on Truth Social Sunday morning, sending love to the victims and their families.

One person at the rally was killed and two others wounded before Secret Service agents killed the shooter.

The FBI identified the gunman as 20-year-old Thomas Matthew Crooks of Bethel Park, Pa.

Crooks was a registered Republican who donated $15 through ActBlue, the Democratic-allied organization, in 2021. That's according to Pennsylvania voter registration and FEC data.

Normally, I would concede to your obviously strategic mind, not today. 1. He wasn't acting, he was Peacocking. 2. I've seen actions of Secret Service agents (not Hollywood) and he would have been tackle rolled to an armoured vehicle, or at least a hard shelled cover, far faster, if his agents were truly scared for him. 3. Many reports that shooter was pointed out before shooting, with no action taken. 4. Video clearly sees snipers eyeballing that direction for a few MINUTES, with no action...

11h11 hours ago

It wasn't staged. A real person died. But I also think that's why you didn't see people running/dropping to the ground after the initial shock. Because they were so tuned into a reality TV narrative...that they were confused and thought it was a staged part of the show.

I'm sure it wasn't but you can understand how people might question it at first before realizing crowd members were in fact shot. The guy can't be trusted, hires actors as audience members, uses fake props, has been promising a terrorist attack... and then he pops up out of it all with a fist pump photo op with blood and the flag and all that? All while the crowd looked to be recording it on their phones instead of running away. It was the oddest thing to see, especially before they added sound.

News: MSNBC will not air "Morning Joe" on Monday, opting to instead air continued breaking news coverage of the attempt to assassinate Trump. The decision comes as some Trump allies blame the press, particularly MSNBC, for the assassination attempt.

I'm told NBCU News Group boss Cesar Conde made the decision in conjunction with MSNBC president Rashida Jones and hosts Joe Scarborough and Mika Brzezinski.

Judge dismisses Trump classified documents case

Link Copied By The Washington Desk

10:33 AM 7/15/2024 Posted 20 minutes ago

U.S. District Judge Aileen Cannon has dismissed the classified documents case against former President Donald Trump over the manner in which special counsel Jack Smith was appointed.

"The Superseding Indictment is DISMISSED because Special Counsel Smith's appointment violates the Appointments Clause of the United States Constitution," wrote Judge Cannon, who was appointed to the bench by the former president.

Special counsel Jack Smith had contested this argument, and other federal courts had upheld the constitutionality of special counsels.

The Justice Department had no immediate comment.

“Honestly, it’s going to be a whole different speech now.”

ORDER GRANTING MOTION TO DISMISS SUPERSEDING INDICTMENT BASED ON APPOINTMENTS CLAUSE VIOLATION

Former President Trump’s Motion to Dismiss Indictment Based on the Unlawful Appointment and Funding of Special Counsel Jack Smith is GRANTED in accordance with this Order [ECF No. 326]. The Superseding Indictment is DISMISSED because Special Counsel Smith’s appointment violates the Appointments Clause of the United States Constitution. U.S. Const., Art. II, § 2, cl. 2. Special Counsel Smith’s use of a permanent indefinite appropriation also violates the Appropriations Clause, U.S. Const., Art. I, § 9, cl. 7, but the Court need not address the proper remedy for that funding violation given the dismissal on Appointments Clause grounds. The effect of this Order is confined to this proceeding.

In a way, isn't it a good thing that JD Vance is now Trump's running mate? That means his seat is now open up for an election this fall so Democrats could potentially flip the house if they put some money into this election

The Lefty pundits this morning, all reasonable and olive branchy, we need to tone down the hysteria, Project 2025 isn't going to end democracy, Trump isn't Hitler, it's not fascism...

Yeah?

Tell you what, you rewrite those articles to say: drag queens reading books in the library isn't grooming, but church IS; gay people getting married won't end democracy; abortion isn't going to invite "God's Wrath OH NO!" and healthcare isn't socialism, and I'll give you some time. That's EXACTLY where we're at.

We've literally -- and I mean LITERALLY -- carved out a special exemption from the law, from accountability, from responsibility, from ethics, from morality, from civility, from basic human decency, for one man: Donald J. Trump.

He is immune from every restriction our nation imposes on every single other member of our society.

After lengthy deliberation and thought, and considering the tremendous talents of many others, I have decided that the person best suited to assume the position of Vice President of the United States is Senator J.D. Vance of the Great State of Ohio. J.D. honorably served our Country in the Marine Corps, graduated from Ohio State University in two years, Summa Cum Laude, and is a Yale Law School Graduate, where he was Editor of The Yale Law Journal, and President of the Yale Law Veterans Association. J.D.'s book, "Hillbilly Elegy," became a Major Best Seller and Movie, as it championed the hardworking men and women of our Country. J.D. has had a very successful business career in Technology and Finance, and now, during the Campaign, will be strongly focused on the people he fought so brilliantly for, the American Workers and Farmers in Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, Minnesota, and far beyond....

☐: Here, we'll make it easy for you, here's most of the times JD Vance has trashed Donald Trump, all in one place.

JD trashing Trump: A Thread

lincolnproject.us

13h13 hours ago

Vance called Trump dangerous, "divisive and arrogant" several times on multiple different occasions in 2016:

lincolnproject.us

13h13 hours ago

He was so open with his opposition of Trump that he posted two now deleted tweets pleading with fellow Christians to denounce Trump:

lincolnproject.us

13h13 hours ago

Vance wrote a lengthy Op-Ed for Atlantic where he said Trump is: “cultural heroin. He makes some feel better for a bit. But he cannot fix what ails them, and one day they’ll realize it” and warned, “perhaps the nation will trade the quick high of ‘Make America Great Again’ for real medicine.”

theatlantic.com/polit...

lincolnproject.us

13h13 hours ago

Vance: "That's the big problem with Trump- he diagnoses the problem in a very successful and passionate way but I don't see him offering many solutions."

lincolnproject.us

13h13 hours ago

Bret Baier confronted Vance on FOX News about his comments against Trump- highlighting all of his criticisms including calling voters an “idiot if you voted for him [Trump]” and likens Trump to Hitler.

lincolnproject.us

13h13 hours ago

This message Vance sent to a friend suggesting Trump could be “America’s Hitler”:

lincolnproject.us

13h13 hours ago

Vance told NPR in 2016: “...if I feel like Trump has a really good chance of winning, that I might have to hold my nose & vote for Hillary Clinton. I can't stomach Trump...he's noxious and is leading the white working class to a very dark place.”

npr.org/2016...

Trump wants to extend his tax cuts for the rich, which would add $4.6T to the deficit.

Physical Courage? My father leading a troop in the Pacific while sick with malaria is physical courage. Or my mother raising five kids, while volunteering to support emotionally troubled children. Or FDR leading the country in the Depression & WWII while suffering from the ravages of polio. I'm also an admirer of Teddy Roosevelt, but unlike the GOP candidate, he did his homework. There is no credible evidence or reliable sources to support the claim that Nancy Pelosi made such a statement to Joe Biden or that she has an ally advocating for him to step aside. Such claims should be approached with skepticism unless supported by reputable news outlets or official statements. It's important not to spread unverified information that could sow unnecessary division or misinformation.

More validation on what the Donors are doing behind the scene from Semafor semafor.com/artic...

(graphic of dem donors revolt)

Joe Biden met privately in Las Vegas Wednesday with Jeffrey Katzenberg, the film producer and a top campaign adviser, who conveyed a warning: The president's donors' patience is wearing thin, and their cash soon will, too.

Katzenberg, one of Biden's closest counselors and a conduit to moneyed circles in media and finance, told the president that major donors, doubtful of his ability to win in November, have all but stopped writing the kind of big checks that sustain campaigns in the home stretch, people familiar with the meeting said. One of the people said the donor warning came in a broader discussion of other campaign topics.

After this story was published, Katzenberg said in a statement that it was a "misread of a private meeting" and that he and Biden "talked about everything from the convention to new ads. And by the way, we will raise the money we need to run a winning campaign."

"This I can confirm," James Carville, a veteran of Democratic presidential campaigns including Bill Clinton and a respected voice among donors, told Semafor. "Donors in revolt."

Democratic donors have been privately wringing their hands for weeks, but it had been unclear until now whether their concerns had made it to a president whose inner circle has shrunk as calls for him to drop out have grown louder.

The freeze extends beyond Biden's campaign and the Democratic National Committee to the web of super PACs and outside groups that make up the party's infrastructure.

"It's a crisis," said a top Democratic fundraiser. "The money isn't moving."

Katzenberg directed Semafor's questions to the Biden campaign, which declined to comment.

You can't trust Snopes anymore. The guy who owns it fucked around on his wife, who was the real fact checker behind the site. She divorced him and left. Now Snopes is heavily biased towards the Trump/Conservative end of the spectrum because it pays better.

I've been saying this since 2017 after Trump installed Sebastian Gorka, a supporter of the Magyar Gárda; an antisemitic, Neo-Nazi Hungarian paramilitary group, into his cabinet. At the time, many Americans couldn't find Hungary on a map. I was in Hungary in 2006 during the country's elections. It was the last election Viktor Orbán would lose before being reelected in 2010.

People are noting that "Comperatore" was misspelled on the firefighter uniform on stage at the Republican National Convention -- missing the "a."

It appears that's just how his uniform is, judging by this 4-day-old photo.

But that is not what narcissists do, they don't believe anyone can do things better than they can, and you sure as hell can't suggest that anyone can. So in the end they sabotage themselves.

Some of you seem to be under the misperception that if Biden were to drop out, it would be a smooth, seamless, glide path to Harris picking a VP candidate, and then a victory in November.

Let me share some reality with you.

First of all, there is no precedent for a presidential candidate dropping out so late. And I remind you we are Democrats - we don't get in line, we navel gaze and argue. Reporting is that many in the donor class do not want Harris.

There would more likely be a contested convention. Great for media ratings. Will this ensure we end up with a candidate that can win in November after all the infighting over the next month? That is uncertain.

I just want to prepare you all for what happens the next day. I think there is widespread naiveté, enhanced by our media who are frothing at the mouth for the "excitement" of a contested convention. This is not reality.

It will be tumultuous, ugly, personal, Democrats turning on Democrats and you know all the rest - a normal primary on steroids.

I am not saying we wouldn't win, I am saying many of you are naive to believe that Biden drops out and we ride into the sunset.

Fascism doesn't stop. It's NEVER enough. To maintain itself, it must become more and more extreme. It CANNOT exist without enemies. They won't stop with "illegal immigrants." The secret police forces, the detention camps, and the security apparatus necessary to round up millions of undocumented workers won't go away once all of those people are deported. It'll simply be retasked and retargeted to the next group deemed undesirable by those in charge. Sooner or later, YOU'll be the enemy.
